

真实批改记录曝光…

专业的老师用实力说话，也用实例说话；敬业的老师用心做事，做出来的就是最好的实例！

- ☞ “老师，你们 9 月假期班的写作课可以报名了吗？我们孩子上次报了 7 月假期班写作课，很喜欢，想 9 月让孩子继续上…”
- ☞ “老师，我可以先帮孩子报 9 月假期班 2 年級的写作课吗？上次报得太晚了，班级满了，没报上！”
- ☞ “我朋友介绍我来的，他们家孩子上次在你们这里上假期班很喜欢……”
- ☞ “我看了我朋友孩子在你们上次假期班写作老师的批改，改得太认真了，每个小细节都不放过，我孩子需要这样的写作老师，所以这次假期班我立即帮孩子报名了。”

这两天，办公室收到了很多诸如以上家长们的反馈。正是凭借高质量、用心的教学，新世纪学校赢得了家长和学生的广泛认可与喜爱。

在新世纪学校，我们始终坚信：写作教学不仅仅是传授词句、技巧，更是一次次思维的碰撞与心灵的唤醒。每一篇作文背后，都是孩子们内心世界的流露与表达；每一份认真批改的作文本，都是师生间真诚交流的桥梁。

随手翻开几篇写作老师的评语，不难发现：每一条评语都字斟句酌、细致入微，不仅给予肯定与鼓励，更指出具体不足，并提出切实可行的改进建议。这不仅是一次批改，更是一场深入的教学与引导。

以下是今年 7 月假期班的真实作文批改举例：

Title: Cats Are Better Than Dogs ✓✓
 I strongly believe cats are better than dogs due to many positive reasons. ✓✓ Great introduction.

Great use of transition words

Firstly, cats are great company and eat little food, while dogs can be noisy and eat more food than cats. This means you don't need to buy heaps of cat food but you need to buy more dog food. ^{dogs cost way more to feed!} ✓✓ Great point and well explained.

Fantastic word choices

Secondly, cats ^{do not} need to have long walks to get tired but dogs need walks daily. When you take dogs for a walk, it can be time consuming. Cats also have less energy than dogs, so they are easier to care for.

Finally, cats have supernatural abilities. An example of this ability cats have is they can survive falls from places such as a 25 storey house. This is because they always land on their feet. No other wonderful!

I strongly believe cats are better than dogs because they eat little food, they have little energy and they have supernatural skills. So what are you waiting for? Go and buy one today!

Well done completing your writing in 20 minutes.

this is an outstanding persuasive piece! You have given three clear and well explained reasons why cats are better than dogs. I liked the 'supernatural abilities' like surviving big falls, that is a unique and clever idea. Fantastic vocabulary and word choices.

Some of your sentences could flow even smoother by combining ideas with linking words like 'also' or 'as well.' Overall, fantastic writing.

Thank you for spending your holidays with me. I hope to see you around New Century School in Term 3.

You get straight into it.

The portal ~~was~~ stood in the center of a village - small, isolated village. Most of us children were crowded around it, watching it intently as one by one we saw all the adults in the village over 20 feet lifelessly (WV) towards?) WV

Almost at once, I heard a scream, monstrous ~~my~~ low body was at the portal, but nothing happened. She demanded into it as if it was solid and pumped back, her arms and legs covered in cuts. Suddenly, the portal began to glow and an even voice said "Hopa chaw monik tormentka" at this everybody started talking, wondering what was the words meant. My friend, who was the youngest of all, was the one who stepped forward and called everyone to be quiet. I was surprised at his courage being just like me.

Stop here for a dramatic effect.

(He spoke calmly and clearly, reassuring the children and the adults and immediately started working out a plan. He assigned a number of group of 10th grade girls which included me, and a few others to go to each house and gather all the younger children and take them to safety. Within hours, the maths team, the multilingual team and maths team got to work translating the apparent message which the portal had given them. Finally, he and the remaining 20 children went to each house gathering food, supplies and everything else they needed.

That evening, everybody assembled in the houses selected, which had been chosen to be used as our living area while all the adults were gone. Impressive summary! This topic presented a few problems as far as timing, and how to include it in such a short space. You managed it and had a logical plot.

Just remember to have a complication! Maybe a few children were missing temporarily - something simple is even okay.

The Outburst

In the ^{mean the same} deep depths of the ^{Proper name?} Oak Wood Forest lays a quiet self kept village with a special neighbor ^{try come} creeping over them as they live in terror. A black rocky volcano with a stench that could be ^{neighbour} smelled a mile away with one smiff.

As the village awakes, the emperor ^{set the scene and problem earlier than later.} arranges a festival for his daughters engagement.
The people prepared as the daughter, Gabriella rumbled with stress as an overwhelming feeling cast over her. The people were ^{check tense changes.} ecstatic for the event but the mountains were planning something else for the night. ^{a/an/the - watch your articles.}

As night casts over the village lanterns fire up and the festival begins. Lady Gabriella gets ^{score} carried down the street in her litter, a wheelless box where ^{score} lays a seat for the king's daughter. Gabriella wears a veil and a purple lace dress ^{mark of} with silk fabric
under, matching her black navy hair cascading down her shoulders as her tan skin shines. She meets with her fiancé under a beautiful tree with a vine ^{Navy = blue} flowing.
The crowd ^{cheered} cheered as the couple told their vows as a unexpected guest appears.

The nearby volcano rumbled, thundering
through the village as ash fell crumbling
out of the volcano, burning with passion as it ^{billowed? rained?} braces for the fall. The village bursts into alarm as they flee. Gabriella gets pulled away by her fiancé, Diego as he tries to avoid the ash falling on him. The emission of gas puffs out in rage as an eruption of magma cascades down the rocky volcano. The lava chased the villagers like ^{they} prey just waiting for a bite.
Screams and the grass crunching ^{under their feet as people ran to safety} can be heard. Gabriella and Diego climb ^{climbed} on a house watching in horror as the lava devours the people.

The last remaining ones are Gabriella and Diego and Gabriella, now ^{scared} traumatized knew there was no way of escape so they said their last good-byes as the lava finally devours their meal. ^{Gabriella}

Pit Bull Terriers ~~Must be Banned~~ in Australia

Imagine walking through the park when a powerful, muscular dog suddenly breaks free and ^{charges} towards an innocent child. This dog is a Pit Bull Terrier. While some people claim these dogs are harmless, the reality is that Pit Bull Terriers are strong, vicious animals with a troubling history, capable of attacking anything in their path. Their strength and potential to cause harm pose a significant risk in public spaces, where they can severely injure people.

Titles need capital. You have stated you state well.

Pit Bull Terriers were originally bred for dog fighting and ~~bull~~ baiting, meaning they were intended to be aggressive. This is crucial because ^{even} today those instincts haven't entirely vanished. They react swiftly when they feel threatened and their strong jaws can cause serious harm in seconds. This proves that they are dangerous even in calm environments. A moment of confusion or panic can result in disaster, as their powerful bites can cause severe damage.

- aggressive
- environment

Some fantastic phrasing here. Well applied content from class notes, too!

Check your spelling!

Furthermore, Pit Bull Terriers can be extremely difficult to control if they aren't properly trained. They are ^{renowned} ~~known~~ for being stubborn, independent and full of energy. This is significant because not every owner possesses the time, skills or patience to train them effectively. When Pit Bull Terriers don't receive enough attention they can become bored.

Good

their ~~ancestors~~ ^{ancestors} which is the reason for their behaviour. Because of their blood-stricken history it would be absolutely abominable to let them survive in society.

Last but not least, Pitbulls have an innate behaviour to be aggressive in the company of humans or dogs. This behaviour makes young children scared and apprehensive (of the breed) of the Pitbulls and the dogs may attack them. Do we really want such a malicious dog roaming our streets?

In summary, Pitbulls must be banned because of their aggression, their brutal history and to protect people. To keep our community safe we must ban these hostile creatures. Pitbulls must be outlawed once and all.

Some powerful vocabulary selection, Xadip! Watch that you 3 body paragraphs have evidence-based content

Teacher's Comments:

Excellent work during the 4P! Just try to organise yourself a little and perhaps less chatting in class!

See you in the next H.P!
